

“Have I Mattered? Can I Still?”

Generating a Legacy That Gives Meaning to Your Life

A Retreat for Men

6:00 PM Friday – 5:00 PM Saturday
November 1-2, 2019

At The Hermitage
(11321 Dutch Settlement Rd,
Three Rivers, Michigan)

Teaching tales. Our own stories. Experiences in nature. Join us as we weave them together to illuminate ways of creating a legacy that gives meaning to our lives and makes a difference in the lives of future generations. Men in the second half of life will especially appreciate this retreat.

Led by John Kotre, Ph.D., storyteller and narrative psychologist whose books deal with lives, memories, stories and legacies. Relevant to this retreat are Make It Count and Outliving the Self. A former Jesuit seminarian, John was creator of the PBS series Seasons of Life and is currently collaborating on a documentary on the life of Teilhard de Chardin. He is Professor Emeritus of Psychology at the University of Michigan—Dearborn and participant of Shalom Community Church, a Mennonite congregation in Ann Arbor.

Enjoy 62 acres of rolling hills in southwest Michigan with beautiful views, birdsong, and trails for leisurely walking. Stay in St. Joseph’s Barn or one of the cabins in the woods.

Cost: $125 (includes three meals and single rooms). Limited to first 12 registrations.

To register, visit Mennonite Men or contact Steve Thomas at SteveT@Mennonites.org.
